It is my proud pleasure to write the MOGS secretarial report for the year 2023-2024. MOGS began its new managing committee year in April 2023 under the able leadership of President Dr. Anahita Chauhan and the new office bearers and the managing committee members. The year remained extraordinarily productive and vibrant in terms of academic activities, social charitable activities of women's health and administrative working of the society. During the entire year the whole team of MOGS put an immense effort to conduct the scientific meetings and deliberations. Highlights of the activities are 7 major conferences, 9 teaching workshops focusing on obstetric skills, Endoscopic Surgeries, Infertility & Oncology, 38 webinars and outreach programmes, 4 N A Purandare Postgraduate Teaching programs and 5 social activities focusing on the issues of women's health. The major conferences had participation of not only our own academicians from MOGS, AMOGS, FOGSI but also faculties from FIGO, RCOG, SAFOG, UNICEF thus further enhancing MOGS reputation globally. This year MOGS conducted BMD detection camps at 37 centres in one day and Menstrual Hygiene camp at 24 centres in Mumbai on one day. N A Purandare teaching programs and Nandita Palshetkar postgraduate CME have immensely benefited postgraduate students not only from Mumbai but all across the nation. All our managing committee members and office bearers worked hard to facilitate MOGS activities. Their valuable inputs during the 12 managing committee meetings made appreciable contributions to MOGS activities throughout the year. We got the opportunity to thank our past presidents and we were able to felicitate the past presidents. I am very happy to share that this year MOGS received 'AMOGS M V Chitale Best Society Award' & FOGSI's Dr. Sadhana Desai population stabilization promotion award. I sincerely appreciate the hard work of the entire managing committee under the leadership of Dr. Niranjana Chavan for making MOGS once again the Best Society.
